

Let me introduce to you a new couple I met today. John and Mabel Lecey. They are missionaries to a small village in Camiri Bolivia. They stopped by to talk about one of my favorite subjects - Radio. John had a lot of questions. I enjoyed hearing that he would like to get started with radio. In Camiri there are many without the Gospel story. He feels the best way to increase their hearing about the Gospel is by radio. He has a great idea!

I had some leftover treats like this bag of Trail Mix. It is not something they have every day, so I gave it to them. They opened it and began that wonderful experience of tasting all the goodies inside. Mabel said, Bruce this one thing tastes like the ants we eat twice a year.

yum! yum!

I quickly looked at the ingredients and it didn't say anything about ants. Mabel said, twice a year when these "hormigas colonas" come out of the ground during raining season, we go out and gather them up. It is lots of fun she said, lots of dodging other ants as one gathers the larger ones. The brown cockroach size insects are roasted, salted and eaten like peanuts. I better recheck those ingredients!

We are in the winddown stage. Tomorrow we are packing things up for storage in the room I'm using now. We have to do some rearranging to find the space to put things, like a dozen mattresses, suitcases with recording gear and personal stuff.

Monday morning we go early to take an exit the country corona test.

We ask prayer: we need to be negative! I try to be positive but in this case we want to be negative!

Please keep praying for our new radio license to come through. It remains in progress, and it could take some time. Thank you.

God bless you all, it was a fast month.

Bruce
